Examples of Job Postings (Postings are also used for advertisements in the Chronicle and Inside Higher Ed online services and may be altered to fit the specific format and length specifications.)

Tenure Track

Kenyon College, a highly selective, nationally ranked liberal arts college in central Ohio, invites applications for a tenure track position in Sociology at the rank of Assistant Professor beginning in July 2016.

A Ph.D is preferred but ABD will be considered. Candidates must possess a Ph.D. in sociology by fall 2016. We seek candidates whose teaching and research focus on the sociology of education or environmental sociology. Strong preference will go to those with a demonstrable record of excellence in teaching and research. The successful candidate must be committed to undergraduate teaching in a liberal arts setting and have an active research agenda.

Responsibilities include teaching a 3/2 course load over two semesters, with one or more of these courses contributing to our core curriculum in theory and methods. Kenyon Sociology faculty regularly participate in interdisciplinary programs, including African Diaspora Studies, American Studies, Asian Studies, Environmental Studies, Latino/a Studies, International Studies, Law and Society, the Rural Life Center, and Women's and Gender Studies.

A complete application will be comprised of 1) a Cover Letter that includes an articulation of the applicant's teaching philosophy and evidence of teaching excellence; 2) a Curriculum Vitae; and 3) Letters of Reference from three (3) recommenders. All application materials must be submitted electronically through Kenyon's employment website. http://careers.kenyon.edu

Review of applications will begin September 15, 2015, and will continue until the position is filled. Completed applications received by the September 15 deadline will be guaranteed full consideration.

Kenyon College is an Equal Opportunity Employer. It is the College's policy to evaluate qualified applicants without regard to age, ancestry, disability, national or ethnic origin, race, religion, sex, sexual orientation, marital status, political belief or activity, or status as a veteran. Kenyon welcomes diversity and encourages applications from women and minority candidates.

Visiting

The Psychology Department of Kenyon College invites applications for a full-time two year Visiting Assistant Professor to begin in Fall of 2015. Candidates with demonstrated excellence in teaching introductory psychology and/or introductory research methods will be preferred. Preference will be given to candidates who can also teach a course in social or abnormal psychology.

Interest in mentoring undergraduate research will be viewed as an asset. The standard teaching expectation is 5 courses per year.

To apply, candidates should visit the online application site found at http://careers.kenyon.edu. A complete application will be comprised of 1) a Cover Letter discussing the applicant's research and scholarship undertaken, its relevance to the field or discipline, and prior teaching experience and evidence of teaching excellence; 2) a statement of the applicant's teaching philosophy; 3) a Curriculum Vita; and 4) Letters of

---

1
Reference from three (3) recommenders. All application materials must be submitted electronically through Kenyon's employment website.  http://careers.kenyon.edu

Review of applications will begin December 1, 2014 and will continue until the position is filled.

Kenyon College is committed to creating and maintaining a diverse campus environment. We welcome all qualified applicants without regard to race, religion, sexual orientation, national origin, disability or age.

Post Doc Fellowship

Mellon Postdoctoral Fellowship in Russian

Kenyon College is seeking applications for an appointment as a one-year postdoctoral fellowship in Russian for the academic year 2013-14, renewable for one additional year. The fellowship is sponsored by the Andrew W. Mellon Foundation.

The successful candidate will teach three Russian language and culture courses during the first year and, if reappointed, four courses during the second year. The fellow will receive a competitive salary, plus standard benefits and a research budget.

Applicants must, without exception, have completed all requirements for the Ph.D. degree by June 30, 2013 to be appointed to the position.

To apply, candidates should visit the online application site found at http://careers.kenyon.edu. A complete application will be comprised of 1) a Cover Letter discussing the applicant's prior teaching experience; 2) a statement of the applicant's teaching philosophy; 3) a Curriculum Vita; and 4) Letters of Reference from three (3) recommenders. All application materials must be submitted electronically through Kenyon's employment website.

Review of applications will begin November 1, 2012, and will continue until the position is filled.

An EOE, Kenyon welcomes diversity and encourages the applications of women and minority candidates.

Dissertation Fellowship

Marilyn Yarbrough Dissertation/Teaching Fellowship

Kenyon College is seeking applications for the Kenyon Dissertation Fellowship. The dissertation program is designed for persons who come from under-represented and disadvantaged backgrounds. The Fellow will be expected to teach one (1) course each semester, complete the dissertation, and make a public presentation of his or her work.

Kenyon will provide a stipend of $33,500, plus health benefits, housing (or equivalent allowance), and a small moving allowance. The College will also provide some allowance to cover research, travel to conferences, and professional expenses. The Fellow will be provided an office, a networked computer, and secretarial support services.

Eligibility to apply for the Marilyn Yarbrough Dissertation/Teaching Fellowship is limited to those who meet
ALL of the following four criteria:
1) Are citizens or nationals of the United States or otherwise 'protected individuals' as defined in 8 U.S.C. § 1324b(a)(3)(B);
2) Are enrolled in a research-based Ph.D. program;
3) Aspire to a teaching and research career; and
4) Have not yet earned a doctoral degree at any time and in any field.

Generally, the program seeks fellows pursuing doctorates in one of the following fields: African and African American Studies, American Studies, Anthropology, Art, Art History, Asian Studies, Biology, Chemistry, Classics, Dance, Drama, Economics, English, Environmental Studies, History, Humanities, International Studies, Legal Studies, Mathematics, Modern Languages and Literatures, Music, Philosophy, Physics, Political Science, Public Policy, Psychology, Religious Studies, Sociology, and Women's and Gender Studies.

As a reflection of Kenyon's commitment to promoting diversity in thought and experience within the academy, applicants for the fellowship must be members of under-represented groups (e.g. ethnic minorities; women in fields that are occupied predominantly by men, or men in fields that are occupied predominantly by women; and persons who are first-generation college graduates within their families).

To apply, candidates should visit the online application site found at http://careers.kenyon.edu. A complete application will be comprised of 1) a Cover Letter discussing the research and scholarship undertaken, its relevance to the field or discipline, prior teaching experience, and a statement that speaks both to one's membership in an under-represented group as well as how her or his selection would enhance academic diversity; 2) a Curriculum Vita; and 3) Letters of Reference from three (3) recommenders. All application materials must be submitted electronically through Kenyon's employment website.

Review of applications will begin December 15, 2014, and will continue until the fellowship is awarded. Completed applications received by the December 15th deadline will be guaranteed full consideration.

Kenyon College is committed to creating and maintaining a diverse campus environment. We welcome all qualified applicants without regard to race, religion, sexual orientation, national origin, disability or age.